JEWETT CITY

The Woman in Room 17, was played at Finn's Opera house Monday evening by a fine company. A very large audience was present and the majority of them appreciated the talent and the moral of the story, but there is certain element who attend the movies and all shows who shrink with laughter at the most tragic performance and audibly make fun of the actors. If they only knew enough to realize it, such people are only exposing their ignorance and ill manner and greatly annoy the actors and the better bred listeners who had paid admission to see a good performance and not go home in a state of indignation.

The democratic caucus was held in the town hall at Jewett City Monday evening for the election of delegates to the democratic national convention. Chairman Michael E. Shea, clerk, Wincenty Osga. The delegates appointed were John Potter and Edmund Jodelin, with power to appoint alternates.

Just One Application and the Hairs Vanish

(Toilet Talks)

Any woman can keep her skin free from unsightly hair or fuzz if she will follow these simple instructions: When hairy growths appear, apply a simple paste, made by mixing some water with powdered talc. Apply this to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a harmless treatment, but be sure you get the real delatone.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Contract for the construction of the new 500-foot spinning mill at Goodyear has been let to the Hunkin-Conkey company, of Cleveland, O., and ground for the big structure will be broken at the beginning of next week. It was announced here Monday by a representative of the Cleveland concern, which is to assemble a construction force of 500 men here many of them to come from Cleveland.

It was stated Monday that the main part of the contract will be completed by August 1. All arrangements for the carrying out of the contract are being perfected this week, and things will be booming in the construction line at Goodyear by the first of May. The construction company will make all arrangements for housing its construction force and the big new mill restaurant at Goodyear will make it possible for these workers to get splendid meals at practically no cost.

The Hunkin-Conkey company is one of the best known building concerns in the middle west and has done a great amount of construction work in Cleveland, Akron and other cities in Ohio. Judge Woodward heard the cases of three men, charged with having been intoxicated, when a session of the town court was held, Monday morning. Two of the men pleaded guilty and were fined $2 each and costs. Each paid $13.74. The other man pleaded not guilty and his case was continued for two months. It was frankly admitted in court that the jags were the result of imbibing too freely of real body of real stuff that was sold as whiskey. The sales were blamed on to "some town" in Rhode Island, just which one the buyers said they did not know. Prosecuting attorney A. G. Bill inquired at some length about this phase of the case.

It was said here Monday that the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company is contemplating the establishment "in the east" of a tire factory with a capacity of 10,000 tires a day. It will not be good news to Danielson or surrounding territory to hear that the big concern, with a fabric mill here, is not considering bringing the plant into this territory. Lack of railroad facilities, scarcity of labor in this field and other considerations seem to be operating to fix the location of the plant in New York or New Jersey, but this has not been definitely settled, it is said.

In any event, more tires made by Goodyear means that more fabric will be required to make them and more fabric means further increases in the company's big plant in this town.

Funeral services for Mrs. Evelyn M. Shippey, wife of Ray Shippey, were held at their home on the Dayville road, relatives and friends attending. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Henry A. McEwen of Potter street underwent a surgical operation, which was successfully performed, at the private hospital at Williamstown Monday.

This section of eastern Connecticut will be invaded this week by a flying squadron of suffrage speakers in the interest of urging Governor Holcomb into calling a special session of the Connecticut general assembly to pass upon the matter of ratifying the Susan B. Anthony proposed amendment to the federal constitution. Danielson, Central Village, Jewett City are among towns in this section that are listed for a visit from the speakers, who will form twelve groups of four each. A motor corps is being organized to make tours planned for this and other parts of the state.

Through the efforts of Miss Florence S. M. Croft, regent of Ruth Wyllys chapter, D. A. R. of Hartford, records of the sons of the members of the chapter who served in the world war are to be collected and placed in the state library at Hartford where they will remain as a lasting memorial. Miss Croft formerly was of Danielson.

PUTNAM

Putnam—and all of this section of eastern Connecticut—was introduced to what is becoming a nation-wide fad when Monday, State Attorney Charles E. Sears, president of the Connecticut State Bar association, appeared in a brand new suit of blue denim—overalls and jumper had everything.

The eminent attorney appeared even more than ordinarily distinguished in his now very fashionable garb, and was greeted by his professional and business friends with many compliments.

Seated in his office Mr. Sears received his clients during the day and, in addition to consulting with them found time to say something to them of his new suit and his reasons for donning it. Mr. Sears is not regarded here as a faddist; neither is his purse so strained that the present prices for men's clothing causes him worry. He just decided that he would like one of the practical suits that are being bought by the thousands—so went out and bought one. The innovation created a wave of interest here, and many were those who made it a point to see the creation in blue that the state attorney was wearing. There were rumors about town that other well known men would be seen during the day with one of the blue denim rigs, but they failed to appear up to six o'clock, by which hour it was becoming rather too cool for the latest outfits for men in this spring of 1920.

The Memorial day committee of Ansonia Maypole post, American Legion, held a meeting in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening and talked over plans for the program that will be worked out for the observance of Memorial day. Commander Edward P. Perry, M. D., said that he hoped to have the co-operation of all the patriotic societies of the town in carrying out the program that is being planned as well as the help of the graves of the honored dead of all the wars will be decorated, and for the first time in a formal observance on Memorial day flowers will be placed on the graves of world war veterans in local cemeteries.

Employees from some departments of the Manhuset company that had not been involved in the strike that started nearly two weeks ago came out on strike Monday morning, but this defection did not seriously hinder the operation of the big plant. Gains continued to be made in the number of looms operated.

Operations were being continued on Monday by the Linberg and Street firm, which has the contract for paving Grove street. Some of the laborers for this concern went out on strike Friday morning. Some of these have since returned to their work, while others have not. Some of the men who are still off the job are not likely to be taken back if they should ask for employment, it was stated by one of the men in charge on Monday. The steam roller was on the job Monday smoothing out the surface of the street where excavations have been made and where the cement is to be laid.

Freight trains will be moving through Putnam with regular regularity today, it was stated Monday. One "side" of the boat freight job was restored Monday and the other "side" will be today. The movement of freight through here has been comparatively light for the past week.

Among prominent men in Hartford who are receiving publicity because they do not wear overcoats is Attorney George B. Thayer, father of Charles T. Thayer of this city. Mr. Thayer never wears anything warmer than a sack coat, a writer says, and Mr. Thayer always has enjoyed perfect health, but it has not added anything to his height. When he passed the examination in K Company of the old First Regiment, they had to raise a lump of half an inch on his head with a broomstick in order to get him up to required height. Mr. Thayer was bound to get into the service, however, and he did. Only a few months ago he returned from Europe, where he served as a Y. M. C. A. secretary.

One of the greatest match manufacturing companies in the United States has just placed a new line of matches on the market—the Putnam brand. These matches are put up in small pocket size boxes, selling for about a cent a box, and they show General Israel Putnam astride a charger.

The room where destiny work for pupils of the schools is to be done is nearly ready at the Israel Putnam school, and it is possible that some of the pupils may receive attention from the school during the present week, but this was uncertain Monday.

Among those mentioned as attending the Leap Year dance at the Connecticut Agricultural college is Miss Anna Arnold, Putnam, a student at the institution.

Attorney Archibald Macdonald appeared in the town court to represent a client, Monday morning.

Putnam will have a visitation from suffrage speakers in the interest of having a special session of the Connecticut general assembly called to pass upon the ratification of the Susan B. Anthony amendment. These speakers are touring the state in motor cars and are expected in Putnam during the present week.
